

Home > Reads for Women > Understanding Men

Confident or Cocky? 16 Subtle Signs that Split an Arrogant & Modest Man

By TEAM LOVEPANKY

 Pin It Tweet Share

If you're confused as to whether he is an arrogant man or a confident one, here are the signs for you to tell the difference between the two.

There is no denying that there is a relatively fine line between being an arrogant man and being a confident one. Many say that one trait cannot be present without the other and to some extent, that belief rings true.

According to the Merriam-Webster dictionary, the word "arrogant" refers to "having or showing the insulting attitude of people who believe that they are better, smarter, or more important than other people." On the other hand, "confident" is "having a feeling or belief that you can do something well or succeed at something."

We surveyed 20 girls and gay men asking them what their top five favorite and most hated traits in men are. Arrogance was listed in everyone's top 5 most hated traits, whereas confidence was listed in everyone's top 5 favorite characteristics.

So what do these general findings tell us? There is undoubtedly a fine line between arrogance and confidence and thus, a fine line between being loved and hated.

Read: [15 reasons nice guys finish last all the time]

How can you tell the difference between arrogance and confidence?

If you are new to the dating game or if you simply feel that you have to pay more attention to the signs that your partner is exuding, here are 16 hints that can help you determine if your man is arrogant or confident.

1. Modesty

First, you have to keep your eye open for modesty. Arrogant men do not even know what this means. They tend to be very boastful about their accomplishments, love tooting their own horn, and constantly show off. Not once will they attribute their success to someone else.

Confident men, on the other hand, will be happy to engage you in conversation about their successful endeavors but tend to say things like, "It took plenty of hard work on my part, but I would never have accomplished what I had without the support of my mentor." Read: [Things to look for in a guy before dating him]

2. How he treats others

Another way to tell if the man you are dating is confident or arrogant is to pay attention to the way he treats others. We do not mean watching him suck up to his boss or more successful friends. We're talking about waiters, cabbies, housekeepers, the parking lot operator, the barista, and so on.

Arrogant men tend to be rude and snappy, whereas confident men never forget their manners. Always remember that a man should not be judged by how he treats his equals, but rather, by how he treats those whom he deems are lower down on the totem pole than him.

3. Admitting mistakes

Another difference between a confident man and an arrogant one is that the former is not afraid of making and admitting his mistakes. For example, if you are on a date at a haughty French restaurant that lists several items on the menu in French, a confident man is not afraid to ask your server for help.

An arrogant man will probably act like he knows exactly what every item is, even if he does not speak a word of French. He would rather project to the world that he knows everything and can do no wrong as opposed to admitting that he has a weakness.

4. Maintaining eye contact

A confident man will have no problems maintaining good eye contact with you during a conversation. He will undoubtedly focus all his attention on you, urging you to express yourself assuredly.

On the other hand, an arrogant man will probably have a shifter gaze. Whether he looks behind you, next to you, or around you, arrogant people will not focus on the person they are having a conversation with as they are more concerned about finding someone else to speak to. More aptly, someone else whom they think will benefit them more.

5. His general behavior

Your man's general behavior will indicate whether he is arrogant or self-assured. An arrogant man will likely give off the impression that he is better than everyone else. From the way he brags about his expensive car to the way he shows off his shiny watch, his arrogance will be all-encompassing, negative, and hard to miss.

On the other hand, a confident man will be more down-to-earth and respectful in nature. He may own an expensive car and a $30,000 watch but will choose not to tell you about them. Read: [30 characteristics that make him an alpha male]

6. Willingness to learn

An arrogant man would rather work his butt off to give others the illusion that he knows everything when in fact, he knows nothing. A confident man will work his butt off to learn something and excel in it.

He is not ashamed to admit that he cannot do something and will make a conscious effort to make it happen. His confidence lies in the fact that he will eventually learn what he needs to learn, but he just hasn't gotten there yet.

7. Do rather than say

You will know that you are dating an arrogant man when his words count for more than his actions. For example, you may mention in passing that you are looking to make a career switch and want to test the job market.

He will not be ashamed to boast that he knows this CEO and that manager and that headhunter and that shareholder, and will promise to hook you up. Whether he is unable to or simply not bothered to, he will probably not follow through with his promise unless it is going to benefit him directly.

When it comes to a confident man, actions speak louder than words, and if he says something or promises you anything, there is a very high chance that he will follow through.

8. What is said and how it's said

What he says and how he says it separates the arrogant men from the confident ones. Arrogant people somehow operate under the pretense that they know everything and everyone.

Even if you know that what they are saying is absolute bollocks, they do it with such certainty that you start doubting yourself. Arrogant men tend to speak to others in a condescending tone and are not afraid to correct or dismiss others, even if it means sorely embarrassing them.

On the flip side, confident men value other people's beliefs and opinions and are very likely to value opposing views and ideas as it gives them the chance to learn and grow. Read: [The clear giveaways of emotionally unavailable men]

9. Social relationships

How your man behaves in social situations will say plenty about him. If he is arrogant, he will most likely put people down, embarrass them, dismiss them or ridicule their viewpoints. He will likely have many acquaintances but only a few true friends.

On the other hand, confident people attract others to them like moths to a flame. They are usually loved by many as they tend to uplift others and are happy with other people's successes. They don't feel threatened when other people are doing better than them.

10. How he discusses his good qualities

When a man is arrogant or cocky, he will tend to exaggerate what he can do. In other words, he brags a lot. Arrogance is focused on abilities. So, what they do is play up what they can do and show off to other people. Read: [What is peacock? The many types and why guys like to show off around girls]

For example, an arrogant man might say things like, "I got three promotions in one year, and I hardly did anything! It was so easy" or "I never studied for tests in school and I got straight A's." They love to go around exaggerating how great they are. It might be annoying, but their impact on others generally stops there.

As for confident men, they are much more likely to discuss their good qualities with modesty, humbleness, and good grace.

11. Controlling

A confident man doesn't want to control other people's behaviors. But an arrogant man does. Sure, everyone has their preferences for how things are done – it's normal. But cocky men will think that their way is the best – and only – way to do it. In addition to that, they think that everything they want to be done should be accomplished within their own time frame – not others'.

If other people don't do things their way, then they will get annoyed. They might make a big deal about it and even yell at others for being "incompetent." Their view of other people is that they are beneath them and can't do anything right.

Read: [23 subtle signs of a controlling boyfriend most girls don't notice]

12. Emotional regulation

An arrogant man will expect other people to drop everything and cater to their needs right there and then. If they don't get what they want, or if they can't manipulate people into doing what they want, they can become angry pretty easily.

When a cocky man gets angry, he might have outbursts. He might be genuinely appalled when people aren't meeting his demands. On the other hand, a confident man can control his emotions and doesn't expect people to cater to him.

13. May or may not be charming

Arrogant and cocky men tend to be super charming *not that a confident man can't be charming too*. They tend to be very outgoing because they believe they will always have positive outcomes when it comes to interacting with people. Read: [Covert narcissist – what it is, 34 signs, and how to see the games they play]

This can cause them to be annoying to be around because they might be covering their insecurities with this fake persona. Whereas a confident man is just himself – whether he is naturally charming or not. He accepts and loves himself just the way he is.

14. Does or doesn't use his charm for personal gain

A confident guy with charm is just that – charming. He has no ulterior motive for acting that way. But when an arrogant man uses his personality, he is trying to win you over for his personal gain.

A cocky man has the desire to be worshipped, coddled, and always be right. They might even have some unhealthy ways of relating to other people. It can turn toxic when he doesn't want to make other people happy – just himself. Read: [Selfish people – 20 ways to spot and stop them from hurting you]

15. Challenging others

When a man is arrogant, he wants to assert his dominance over other people. He wants to win at all costs. He'll talk about his past successes and he wants other people to always view him in a favorable manner. He loves the spotlight and is competitive.

However, a confident man doesn't need to challenge and compete with others because he has nothing to prove. He genuinely likes himself, and if other people don't see his good qualities, he doesn't really care because he is secure.

16. Attitude

A cocky man can be rude or downright cold to other people. He might even lack empathy for other people, which is the reason for this behavior. He is usually self-absorbed so he doesn't understand how his words and actions affect other people. Read: [Stop the craziness in life – how to deal with rude people]

A confident man isn't rude. He lives by the golden rule – "treat others the way you would like to be treated." So, he is more kind, gentle, and loving with other people.

Confidence, arrogance, cocky... what really matters

At the end of the day, do not brush someone off just because they are arrogant. There is a very good chance that they are that way because of how they were raised or because they are simply making up for a shortcoming.

Tell them honestly that their arrogance can be bothersome, and no matter what, be as patient as you can with this person *especially if you love them*.

Read: [Sure signs you're dating a real keeper]

Though they may seem alike, arrogant and confident men are different.
These signs can help you tell the difference. Once you do, you can discern

These signs can help you tell the difference. Once you do, you can discern whether the guy you're with is just there to toot his own horn, or if he has a genuine belief in his own abilities.

Liked what you just read? Follow us on Instagram Facebook Twitter Pinterest and we promise, we'll be your lucky charm to a beautiful love life.

TEAM LOVEPANKY

The editorial team of LovePanky comprises relationship experts and real-life experts that share their experiences and life lessons. If you want the best love ad...

Pin It

Tweet

Share

Should I Give Up On Him? 25 Signs He Won't Change or Be a Good Fit

By TEAM LOVEPANKY

Pin It

Tweet

Share

If you are asking yourself, "should I give up on him?" that is already a bad sign. But just to be sure, you should know the signs of when you should call it quits and move on.

If you frequently ask yourself, "should I give up on him?" we have some good and bad news. The good news is that you still have feelings for him that run deep. The bad news is that you still have feelings for him that run deep.

Sometimes we can be in love with people who aren't good for us. You can love someone deeply even if they aren't good for you or if they never give you what you need to feel loved and fulfilled.

When to give up on a relationship with a guy

If you're asking the question, "should I give up on him?" then you probably already know the answer. If you were happy and in love, this question wouldn't even enter your mind. You would be satisfied and content, and you would have zero desire to break up with him.

With that said, there is no set timeline for when to give up on a guy. Every relationship is different, so you ultimately have to follow your own intuition. So, if you're still wondering what the signs are that you should break it off, here is what you should consider.

Should I give up on him? 25 signs it's time to move on

Let us preface all that comes after this by saying there is no such thing as a perfect man. As hard as it is for all girls to accept, no one is perfect. But, there comes the point where you aren't just overlooking minor irritants.

If you feel you sacrifice something critical in your life or one of your needs for someone else, it might be love, but that doesn't make it right.

We all go through peaks and valleys in our relationships. If the valleys are harder to climb out of and the peaks aren't all that high, you must stop and ask yourself why you stay. Like a net equation, the good times should outweigh the bad, or it isn't worth wasting your life away.

1. You keep praying he will change

If you keep praying that things will change between the two of you, then what you are really doing is praying that he will change. There is one thing that we absolutely know is true in this world.

It is that the only person you can change is yourself. If he isn't what you want or need, or doesn't supply you with what you need to feel whole, he never will.

Read: [Selfish people – 15 ways to spot and stop them from hurting you]

2. He simply can't give you what you need

Sometimes, the hardest thing to realize is someone you love isn't what you need and never will be. If you invest in someone, it sometimes seems selfish to want more than what they provide.

The problem is that you only get one go-around in this lifetime. Don't spend it regretting not being with someone who doesn't make your life happy and fulfilled.

3. You have a voice in your head telling you something isn't right

That little voice in our head's a bitch, yep! But, you know what else she is? She is almost always honest. As much as you might hate to come to terms with what your head tells you because your heart says differently, the inner voice is always right.

It is your soul telling you that something isn't the way it should be. Read: [20 right reasons for walking away from someone you love]

4. You have to beg for love and attention

If you beg for his love and attention, then you deserve better. You should never have to beg for someone to adore and treat you with the respect you deserve. Make no mistake, if someone ignores you or pays you not an ounce of attention, that is a lack of respect.

You don't want to go through life with someone who doesn't think the world of you and you shouldn't. That would be settling.

5. You have very different goals in life

If he hits the corporate ladder running and wants to spend his life without kids and traveling, stop thinking he will change his mind once he knows what you want. If you want to stay put and have the picket fence, then maybe you just aren't the right fit.

It isn't fair of you to want him to give up on his life's goals. But it also isn't fair on you to give up on your own. So, if they just don't meld, then it isn't giving up. It is realistic and saves you from a lifetime of arguing and heartbreak.

6. You fight about the same things over and over

If you fight about the same things now as you did ten years ago, then you aren't ever going to stop fighting about them. There are just some things in relationships that can't be reconciled.

If you tried to meet him halfway and he won't budge, or you can't forgive him for something even though you tried, it is time to let go and move on. It is okay to finally say, "I just can't do this anymore." Read: [The biggest secrets of a love-hate relationship]

7. He won't talk things through with you

You can't have a relationship with someone who won't talk to you or communicate. If he thinks that talking through problems is irritating, runs from you or any conflict, or simply can't sit down and have a civil conversation about problems in your life, you aren't going to be able to have a peaceful union.

An unreasonable person will always be unreasonable. They run, and you chase them forever. Maybe don't think about it as giving up but just stop chasing. Read: [All the reasons why chasing a guy never helps]

8. You feel depressed and lonely

If you feel depressed and lonely all the time, then you have to let go and move on. There is nothing worse than feeling alone, besides feeling lonely with someone.

At a certain point, ask yourself whether you are better with or without him. What is it exactly that he does besides making you feel stuck and continually waiting for him to step up and be the person you need him to be?

9. No matter what you say or do, nothing ever gets better

No matter what you say or do, things never get solved. You know why? Because he doesn't want them to.

If you have a guy who says things like, "I just don't want to fight" but runs from you, bottoms you out by shutting you out, or continually does the very things he knows will hurt the most, then it is intentional.

It isn't that he doesn't know how you feel; he just doesn't care. Don't sit around waiting for someone who doesn't care about you.

10. There is no "I" in this team

If he wants his life to remain his life, that isn't going to change. He might have learned through his parent's relationship to keep secrets and live separate lives, but in reality, this kind of relationship makes your life hell.

If you have been together and he still keeps everything to himself, that isn't going to change.

11. He is selfish

Selfish people don't change. If you wait for him to grow up and act mature, but have been waiting for a very long time, then it isn't maturity. It is a selfish man. You can't have a relationship with someone who only has himself in mind. You won't ever exist. Read: [22 early warning signs of a really bad boyfriend]

12. You find yourself always giving up what you want for what he wants

Trust us on this one, if you make sacrifices now, you always will. The reason you give in and give up is that you learned to. That isn't going to change.

Things aren't going to get any better when you finally stand up for yourself, he isn't going to like it.

13. You are afraid of him or his reaction

If you fear him or his reaction, then it is time to leave, period. No one should make you fearful in a relationship. Whether he withholds love or physically abuses you, if you are fearful and just follow along, then the answer to your question, "should I give up on him?" is a hard YES!

14. You are afraid to be alone

At some point, if you even ask this question, then you have to ask yourself why you would not give up. Maybe you are just afraid to be alone or that someone else won't come along.

Believe us, someone will. There is always another relationship around the bend. And, if this one isn't the one, the right one will come along. Read: [Fear of being alone – How to let go of this fear and find your peace]

16. He doesn't care about your feelings

If he truly doesn't care, like you can stand in front of him crying, or you are in trouble, and he doesn't come to your rescue, leave. That is never going to change.

You can't teach someone to care about you. You can't beat him into it, and you certainly can't keep begging for it. If he doesn't care about how you feel, then you let go.

15. He is a narcissist

A narcissist only cares about one person—himself. Likely, you are nothing but a means to his end. If every time you start to walk, he comes running to you, but he can't be bothered to acknowledge that you exist when you are by his side, then you are dealing with a personality style that not many people survive. Run now while you still have your self-esteem intact.

Narcissists won't change because they aren't capable. Because they lack empathy, they couldn't even if they wanted to. Read: [Signs a narcissist is playing mind games with you]

16. You are just two very different personalities, oil and vinegar

If you are a "soft sensitive" and he is the "I don't give a shit" type, you two will face constant misunderstandings. The peace that you crave just won't be there.

Personality styles don't change as much as you might wish they would. If you have come as far as you can, and he has too, and you still can't seem to meet in a happy medium, you won't ever be happy. Read: [Do opposites attract or push each other away?]

17. His family won't vacate *especially mommy***

If his family is a major contention in your relationship, that won't change. If he goes running to his mommy every time he has a problem, or his family doesn't like you and they all talk about you, it is a nail in the coffin.

If you think that you'll win them over, you won't. He fosters it, and he isn't ever going to stop.

18. He's abusing you

Abuse in a relationship should be an immediate deal-breaker for everyone. But there are many kinds of abuse beyond physical abuse. Emotional and mental abuse are just as damaging, just in a very different way.

So, if he is laying his hands on you, beating you, putting you down, or otherwise mentally torturing you, then it's time to give up on him – he will never change.

19. You're incompatible

Incompatibility is very difficult to overcome in a relationship. For example, let's say one of you is an extrovert and the other is an introvert/homebody. The extrovert wants to go out, do fun things, and socialize with other people.

Meanwhile, the introvert never wants to leave the house and isn't into hanging out with people. These personalities are very incompatible. So, you might want to reconsider whether or not you two are a good match. Read: [Sexually incompatible? The unlucky signs that confirm bad sex]

20. He is addicted to something

Addiction should also be considered a deal-breaker. Usually, when we think of addiction, we think of alcohol or drugs.

But there are a lot of other addictions that can be harmful to a relationship. It can be an addiction to porn, video games, or gambling. Addictions take his attention away from you and the relationship.

21. He is reckless with money

Finances are one of the top reasons that couples break up. If one of you is a spender and one is a saver, that doesn't work very well together. Maybe he gambles or does things with his money that you disapprove of and doesn't consult your opinion. This can be a huge problem in relationships.

22. He cheated on you

Cheating and betrayal should also be a deal-breaker, but for many it's not. Some women give the cheater too many chances, but they will always keep cheating.

So, whether it's cheating or some other kind of betrayal, you should really think about giving up on him because he probably won't change. Read: [How to get over someone cheating on you and repair the damage]

23. He's emotionally withdrawn

When a guy is always "in his own world" and doesn't engage with you at all, then he is emotionally withdrawn. He could be physically present but just staring at the TV 24/7 or simply a workaholic. The point is, if he's not emotionally connecting with you anymore, then that is not a satisfying relationship.

24. Your relationship is not a priority to him

If you find that he puts almost everything in his life before you, then you are not a top priority in his life.

Going out with his guy friends, working, drinking, playing video games, or anything else can be more important to him than you are. If that's happening, then you should probably give up on him.

25. You aren't happy

This one seems so simple, but it's probably the most profound reason you should end it with him. If you aren't happy with him, then is there any other choice? After all, the goal in life should be happiness.

So if he is sucking the joy out of your life, why are you even with him? There is someone else out there that can bring a smile to your face, you just need to find him. Read: [Not happy in a relationship – 20 signs, why it happens, and what to do]

Deciding on giving up on him

Deciding to leave someone you love is one of the hardest decisions in the world. The definition of insanity is performing the same behavior and expecting a different result. If no matter how you approach your relationship, it simply isn't giving you what you want, it is time to let go and move on.

It isn't really about giving up on him as much as recognizing that you may just not be the best for one another. Giving up on him implies that he will change if you just hold out long enough.

Read: [Feeling trapped in a relationship? Should you stay or break free?]

So, take heart, it will be painful, but the sun will rise tomorrow. You'll find your new normal and a guy that you don't ever have to ask if you should give up on him, because he supplies you with what you need from the start.

Should I Give Up On Him? 25 Signs He Won't Change or Be a Good Fit

NEW

If you are asking yourself, "should I give up on him?" that is already a bad sign. But just to be sure, you should know the signs of when you should call it quits and move on.

If you frequently ask yourself, "should I give up on him?" we have some good and bad news. The good news is that you still have feelings for him that run deep. The bad news is that you still have feelings for him that run deep.

Sometimes we can be in love with people who aren't good for us. You can love someone deeply even if they aren't good for you or if they never give you what you need to feel loved and fulfilled.

When to give up on a relationship with a guy

If you're asking the question, "should I give up on him?" then you probably already know the answer. If you were happy and in love, this question wouldn't even enter your mind. You would be satisfied and content, and you would have zero desire to break up with him.

With that said, there is no set timeline for when to give up on a guy. Every relationship is different, so you ultimately have to follow your own intuition. So, if you're still wondering what the signs are that you should break it off, here is what you should consider.

Should I give up on him? 25 signs it's time to move on

Let us preface all that comes after this by saying there is no such thing as a perfect man. As hard as it is for all girls to accept, no one is perfect. But, there comes the point where you aren't just overlooking minor irritants.

If you feel you sacrifice something critical in your life or one of your needs for someone else, it might be love, but that doesn't make it right.

We all go through peaks and valleys in our relationships. If the valleys are harder to climb out of and the peaks aren't all that high, you must stop and ask yourself why you stay. Like a net equation, the good times should outweigh the bad, or it isn't worth wasting your life away.

1. You keep praying he will change

If you keep praying that things will change between the two of you, then what you are really doing is praying that he will change. There is one thing that we absolutely know is true in this world.

It is that the only person you can change is yourself. If he isn't what you want or need, or doesn't supply you with what you need to feel whole, he never will.

Read: [Selfish people – 15 ways to spot and stop them from hurting you]

2. He simply can't give you what you need

Sometimes, the hardest thing to realize is someone you love isn't what you need and never will be. If you invest in someone, it sometimes seems selfish to want more than what they provide.

The problem is that you only get one go-around in this lifetime. Don't spend it regretting not being with someone who doesn't make your life happy and fulfilled.

3. You have a voice in your head telling you something isn't right

That little voice in our head's a bitch, yep! But, you know what else she is? She is almost always honest. As much as you might hate to come to terms with what your head tells you because your heart says differently, the inner voice is always right.

It is your soul telling you that something isn't the way it should be. Read: [20 right reasons for walking away from someone you love]

4. You have to beg for love and attention

If you beg for his love and attention, then you deserve better. You should never have to beg for someone to adore and treat you with the respect you deserve. Make no mistake, if someone ignores you or pays you not an ounce of attention, that is a lack of respect.

You don't want to go through life with someone who doesn't think the world of you and you shouldn't. That would be settling.

5. You have very different goals in life

If he hits the corporate ladder running and wants to spend his life without kids and traveling, stop thinking he will change his mind once he knows what you want. If you want to stay put and have the picket fence, then maybe you just aren't the right fit.

It isn't fair of you to want him to give up on his life's goals. But it also isn't fair on you to give up on your own. So, if they just don't meld, then it isn't giving up. It is realistic and saves you from a lifetime of arguing and heartbreak.

6. You fight about the same things over and over

If you fight about the same things now as you did ten years ago, then you aren't ever going to stop fighting about them. There are just some things in relationships that can't be reconciled.

If you tried to meet him halfway and he won't budge, or you can't forgive him for something even though you tried, it is time to let go and move on. It is okay to finally say, "I just can't do this anymore." Read: [The biggest secrets of a love-hate relationship]

7. He won't talk things through with you

You can't have a relationship with someone who won't talk to you or communicate. If he thinks that talking through problems is irritating, runs from you or any conflict, or simply can't sit down and have a civil conversation about problems in your life, you aren't going to be able to have a peaceful union.

An unreasonable person will always be unreasonable. They run, and you chase them forever. Maybe don't think about it as giving up but just stop chasing. Read: [All the reasons why chasing a guy never helps]

8. You feel depressed and lonely

If you feel depressed and lonely all the time, then you have to let go and move on. There is nothing worse than feeling alone, besides feeling lonely with someone.

At a certain point, ask yourself whether you are better with or without him. What is it exactly that he does besides making you feel stuck and continually waiting for him to step up and be the person you need him to be?

9. No matter what you say or do, nothing ever gets better

No matter what you say or do, things never get solved. You know why? Because he doesn't want them to.

If you have a guy who says things like, "I just don't want to fight" but runs from you, bottoms you out by shutting you out, or continually does the very things he knows will hurt the most, then it is intentional.

It isn't that he doesn't know how you feel; he just doesn't care. Don't sit around waiting for someone who doesn't care about you.

10. There is no "I" in this team

If he wants his life to remain his life, that isn't going to change. He might have learned through his parent's relationship to keep secrets and live separate lives, but in reality, this kind of relationship makes your life hell.

If you have been together and he still keeps everything to himself, that isn't going to change.

11. He is selfish

Selfish people don't change. If you wait for him to grow up and act mature, but have been waiting for a very long time, then it isn't maturity. It is a selfish man. You can't have a relationship with someone who only has himself in mind. You won't ever exist. Read: [22 early warning signs of a really bad boyfriend]

12. You find yourself always giving up what you want for what he wants

Trust us on this one, if you make sacrifices now, you always will. The reason you give in and give up is that you learned to. That isn't going to change.

Things aren't going to get any better when you finally stand up for yourself, he isn't going to like it.

13. You are afraid of him or his reaction

If you fear him or his reaction, then it is time to leave, period. No one should make you fearful in a relationship. Whether he withholds love or physically abuses you, if you are fearful and just follow along, then the answer to your question, "should I give up on him?" is a hard YES!

14. You are afraid to be alone

At some point, if you even ask this question, then you have to ask yourself why you would not give up. Maybe you are just afraid to be alone or that someone else won't come along.

Believe us, someone will. There is always another relationship around the bend. And, if this one isn't the one, the right one will come along. Read: [Fear of being alone – How to let go of this fear and find your peace]

16. He doesn't care about your feelings

If he truly doesn't care, like you can stand in front of him crying, or you are in trouble, and he doesn't come to your rescue, leave. That is never going to change.

You can't teach someone to care about you. You can't beat him into it, and you certainly can't keep begging for it. If he doesn't care about how you feel, then you let go.

15. He is a narcissist

A narcissist only cares about one person—himself. Likely, you are nothing but a means to his end. If every time you start to walk, he comes running to you, but he can't be bothered to acknowledge that you exist when you are by his side, then you are dealing with a personality style that not many people survive. Run now while you still have your self-esteem intact.

Narcissists won't change because they aren't capable. Because they lack empathy, they couldn't even if they wanted to. Read: [Signs a narcissist is playing mind games with you]

16. You are just two very different personalities, oil and vinegar

If you are a "soft sensitive" and he is the "I don't give a shit" type, you two will face constant misunderstandings. The peace that you crave just won't be there.

Personality styles don't change as much as you might wish they would. If you have come as far as you can, and he has too, and you still can't seem to meet in a happy medium, you won't ever be happy. Read: [Do opposites attract or push each other away?]

17. His family won't vacate *especially mommy***

If his family is a major contention in your relationship, that won't change. If he goes running to his mommy every time he has a problem, or his family doesn't like you and they all talk about you, it is a nail in the coffin.

If you think that you'll win them over, you won't. He fosters it, and he isn't ever going to stop.

18. He's abusing you

Abuse in a relationship should be an immediate deal-breaker for everyone. But there are many kinds of abuse beyond physical abuse. Emotional and mental abuse are just as damaging, just in a very different way.

So, if he is laying his hands on you, beating you, putting you down, or otherwise mentally torturing you, then it's time to give up on him – he will never change.

19. You're incompatible

Incompatibility is very difficult to overcome in a relationship. For example, let's say one of you is an extrovert and the other is an introvert/homebody. The extrovert wants to go out, do fun things, and socialize with other people.

Meanwhile, the introvert never wants to leave the house and isn't into hanging out with people. These personalities are very incompatible. So, you might want to reconsider whether or not you two are a good match. Read: [Sexually incompatible? The unlucky signs that confirm bad sex]

20. He is addicted to something

Addiction should also be considered a deal-breaker. Usually, when we think of addiction, we think of alcohol or drugs.

But there are a lot of other addictions that can be harmful to a relationship. It can be an addiction to porn, video games, or gambling. Addictions take his attention away from you and the relationship.

21. He is reckless with money

Finances are one of the top reasons that couples break up. If one of you is a spender and one is a saver, that doesn't work very well together. Maybe he gambles or does things with his money that you disapprove of and doesn't consult your opinion. This can be a huge problem in relationships.

22. He cheated on you

Cheating and betrayal should also be a deal-breaker, but for many it's not. Some women give the cheater too many chances, but they will always keep cheating.

So, whether it's cheating or some other kind of betrayal, you should really think about giving up on him because he probably won't change. Read: [How to get over someone cheating on you and repair the damage]

23. He's emotionally withdrawn

When a guy is always "in his own world" and doesn't engage with you at all, then he is emotionally withdrawn. He could be physically present but just staring at the

I V 24// or simply a workaholic. The point is, if he's not emotionally connecting with you anymore, then that is not a satisfying relationship.

24. Your relationship is not a priority to him

If you find that he puts almost everything in his life before you, then you are not a top priority in his life.

Going out with his guy friends, working, drinking, playing video games, or anything else can be more important to him than you are. If that's happening, then you should probably give up on him.

25. You aren't happy

This one seems so simple, but it's probably the most profound reason you should end it with him. If you aren't happy with him, then is there any other choice? After all, the goal in life should be happiness.

So if he is sucking the joy out of your life, why are you even with him? There is someone else out there that can bring a smile to your face, you just need to find him. Read: [Not happy in a relationship – 20 signs, why it happens, and what to do]

Deciding on giving up on him

Deciding to leave someone you love is one of the hardest decisions in the world. The definition of insanity is performing the same behavior and expecting a different result. If no matter how you approach your relationship, it simply isn't giving you what you want, it is time to let go and move on.

It isn't really about giving up on him as much as recognizing that you may just not be the best for one another. Giving up on him implies that he will change if you just hold out long enough.

Read: [Feeling trapped in a relationship? Should you stay or break free?]

So, take heart, it will be painful, but the sun will rise tomorrow. You'll find your new normal and a guy that you don't ever have to ask if you should give up on him, because he supplies you with what you need from the start.

Should I Give Up On Him? 25 Signs He Won't Change or Be a Good Fit

By TEAM LOVEPANKY

P Pin It

T Tweet

f Share

If you are asking yourself, "should I give up on him?" that is already a bad sign. But just to be sure, you should know the signs of when you should call it quits and move on.

If you frequently ask yourself, "should I give up on him?" we have some good and bad news. The good news is that you still have feelings for him that run deep. The bad news is that you still have feelings for him that run deep.

Sometimes we can be in love with people who aren't good for us. You can love someone deeply even if they aren't good for you or if they never give you what you need to feel loved and fulfilled.

When to give up on a relationship with a guy

If you're asking the question, "should I give up on him?" then you probably already know the answer. If you were happy and in love, this question wouldn't even enter your mind. You would be satisfied and content, and you would have zero desire to break up with him.

With that said, there is no set timeline for when to give up on a guy. Every relationship is different, so you ultimately have to follow your own intuition. So, if you're still wondering what the signs are that you should break it off, here is what you should consider.

Should I give up on him? 25 signs it's time to move on

Let us preface all that comes after this by saying there is no such thing as a perfect man. As hard as it is for all girls to accept, no one is perfect. But, there comes the point where you aren't just overlooking minor irritants.

If you feel you sacrifice something critical in your life or one of your needs for someone else, it might be love, but that doesn't make it right.

We all go through peaks and valleys in our relationships. If the valleys are harder to climb out of and the peaks aren't all that high, you must stop and ask yourself why you stay. Like a net equation, the good times should outweigh the bad, or it isn't worth wasting your life away.

1. You keep praying he will change

If you keep praying that things will change between the two of you, then what you are really doing is praying that he will change. There is one thing that we absolutely know is true in this world.

It is that the only person you can change is yourself. If he isn't what you want or need, or doesn't supply you with what you need to feel whole, he never will.

Read: [Selfish people – 15 ways to spot and stop them from hurting you]

2. He simply can't give you what you need

Sometimes, the hardest thing to realize is someone you love isn't what you need and never will be. If you invest in someone, it sometimes seems selfish to want more than what they provide.

The problem is that you only get one go-around in this lifetime. Don't spend it regretting not being with someone who doesn't make your life happy and fulfilled.

3. You have a voice in your head telling you something isn't right

That little voice in our head's a bitch, yep! But, you know what else she is? She is almost always honest. As much as you might hate to come to terms with what your head tells you because your heart says differently, the inner voice is always right.

It is your soul telling you that something isn't the way it should be. Read: [20 right reasons for walking away from someone you love]

4. You have to beg for love and attention

If you beg for his love and attention, then you deserve better. You should never have to beg for someone to adore and treat you with the respect you deserve. Make no mistake, if someone ignores you or pays you not an ounce of attention, that is a lack of respect.

You don't want to go through life with someone who doesn't think the world of you and you shouldn't. That would be settling.

5. You have very different goals in life

If he hits the corporate ladder running and wants to spend his life without kids and traveling, stop thinking he will change his mind once he knows what you want. If you want to stay put and have the picket fence, then maybe you just aren't the right fit.

It isn't fair of you to want him to give up on his life's goals. But it also isn't fair on you to give up on your own. So, if they just don't meld, then it isn't giving up. It is realistic and saves you from a lifetime of arguing and heartbreak.

6. You fight about the same things over and over

If you fight about the same things now as you did ten years ago, then you aren't ever going to stop fighting about them. There are just some things in relationships that can't be reconciled.

If you tried to meet him halfway and he won't budge, or you can't forgive him for something even though you tried, it is time to let go and move on. It is okay to finally say, "I just can't do this anymore." Read: [The biggest secrets of a love-hate relationship]

7. He won't talk things through with you

You can't have a relationship with someone who won't talk to you or communicate. If he thinks that talking through problems is irritating, runs from you or any conflict, or simply can't sit down and have a civil conversation about problems in your life, you aren't going to be able to have a peaceful union.

An unreasonable person will always be unreasonable. They run, and you chase them forever. Maybe don't think about it as giving up but just stop chasing. Read: [All the reasons why chasing a guy never helps]

8. You feel depressed and lonely

If you feel depressed and lonely all the time, then you have to let go and move on. There is nothing worse than feeling alone, besides feeling lonely with someone.

At a certain point, ask yourself whether you are better with or without him. What is it exactly that he does besides making you feel stuck and continually waiting for him to step up and be the person you need him to be?

9. No matter what you say or do, nothing ever gets better

No matter what you say or do, things never get solved. You know why? Because he doesn't want them to.

If you have a guy who says things like, "I just don't want to fight" but runs from you, bottoms you out by shutting you out, or continually does the very things he knows will hurt the most, then it is intentional.

It isn't that he doesn't know how you feel; he just doesn't care. Don't sit around waiting for someone who doesn't care about you.

10. There is no "I" in this team

If he wants his life to remain his life, that isn't going to change. He might have learned through his parent's relationship to keep secrets and live separate lives, but in reality, this kind of relationship makes your life hell.

If you have been together and he still keeps everything to himself, that isn't going to change.

11. He is selfish

Selfish people don't change. If you wait for him to grow up and act mature, but have been waiting for a very long time, then it isn't maturity. It is a selfish man. You can't have a relationship with someone who only has himself in mind. You won't ever exist. Read: [22 early warning signs of a really bad boyfriend]

12. You find yourself always giving up what you want for what he wants

Trust us on this one, if you make sacrifices now, you always will. The reason you give in and give up is that you learned to. That isn't going to change.

Things aren't going to get any better when you finally stand up for yourself, he isn't going to like it.

13. You are afraid of him or his reaction

If you fear him or his reaction, then it is time to leave, period. No one should make you fearful in a relationship. Whether he withholds love or physically abuses you, if you are fearful and just follow along, then the answer to your question, "should I give up on him?" is a hard YES!

14. You are afraid to be alone

At some point, if you even ask this question, then you have to ask yourself why you would not give up. Maybe you are just afraid to be alone or that someone else won't come along.

Believe us, someone will. There is always another relationship around the bend. And, if this one isn't the one, the right one will come along. Read: [Fear of being alone – How to let go of this fear and find your peace]

16. He doesn't care about your feelings

If he truly doesn't care, like you can stand in front of him crying, or you are in trouble, and he doesn't come to your rescue, leave. That is never going to change.

You can't teach someone to care about you. You can't beat him into it, and you certainly can't keep begging for it. If he doesn't care about how you feel, then you let go.

15. He is a narcissist

A narcissist only cares about one person—himself. Likely, you are nothing but a means to his end. If every time you start to walk, he comes running to you, but he can't be bothered to acknowledge that you exist when you are by his side, then you are dealing with a personality style that not many people survive. Run now while you still have your self-esteem intact.

Narcissists won't change because they aren't capable. Because they lack empathy, they couldn't even if they wanted to. Read: [Signs a narcissist is playing mind games with you]

16. You are just two very different personalities, oil and vinegar

If you are a "soft sensitive" and he is the "I don't give a shit" type, you two will face constant misunderstandings. The peace that you crave just won't be there.

Personality styles don't change as much as you might wish they would. If you have come as far as you can, and he has too, and you still can't seem to meet in a happy medium, you won't ever be happy. Read: [Do opposites attract or push each other away?]

17. His family won't vacate *especially mommy***

If his family is a major contention in your relationship, that won't change. If he goes running to his mommy every time he has a problem, or his family doesn't like you and they all talk about you, it is a nail in the coffin.

If you think that you'll win them over, you won't. He fosters it, and he isn't ever going to stop.

18. He's abusing you

Abuse in a relationship should be an immediate deal-breaker for everyone. But there are many kinds of abuse beyond physical abuse. Emotional and mental abuse are just as damaging, just in a very different way.

So, if he is laying his hands on you, beating you, putting you down, or otherwise mentally torturing you, then it's time to give up on him – he will never change.

19. You're incompatible

Incompatibility is very difficult to overcome in a relationship. For example, let's say one of you is an extrovert and the other is an introvert/homebody. The extrovert wants to go out, do fun things, and socialize with other people.

Meanwhile, the introvert never wants to leave the house and isn't into hanging out with people. These personalities are very incompatible. So, you might want to reconsider whether or not you two are a good match. Read: [Sexually incompatible? The unlucky signs that confirm bad sex]

20. He is addicted to something

Addiction should also be considered a deal-breaker. Usually, when we think of addiction, we think of alcohol or drugs.

But there are a lot of other addictions that can be harmful to a relationship. It can be an addiction to porn, video games, or gambling. Addictions take his attention away from you and the relationship.

21. He is reckless with money

Finances are one of the top reasons that couples break up. If one of you is a spender and one is a saver, that doesn't work very well together. Maybe he gambles or does things with his money that you disapprove of and doesn't consult your opinion. This can be a huge problem in relationships.

22. He cheated on you

Cheating and betrayal should also be a deal-breaker, but for many it's not. Some women give the cheater too many chances, but they will always keep cheating.

So, whether it's cheating or some other kind of betrayal, you should really think about giving up on him because he probably won't change. Read: [How to get over someone cheating on you and repair the damage]

23. He's emotionally withdrawn

When a guy is always "in his own world" and doesn't engage with you at all, then he is emotionally withdrawn. He could be physically present but just staring at the TV 24/7 or simply a workaholic. The point is, if he's not emotionally connecting with you anymore, then that is not a satisfying relationship.

24. Your relationship is not a priority to him

If you find that he puts almost everything in his life before you, then you are not a top priority in his life.

Going out with his guy friends, working, drinking, playing video games, or anything else can be more important to him than you are. If that's happening, then you should probably give up on him.

25. You aren't happy

This one seems so simple, but it's probably the most profound reason you should end it with him. If you aren't happy with him, then is there any other choice? After all, the goal in life should be happiness.

So if he is sucking the joy out of your life, why are you even with him? There is someone else out there that can bring a smile to your face, you just need to find him. Read: [Not happy in a relationship – 20 signs, why it happens, and what to do]

Deciding on giving up on him

Deciding to leave someone you love is one of the hardest decisions in the world. The definition of insanity is performing the same behavior and expecting a different result. If no matter how you approach your relationship, it simply isn't giving you what you want, it is time to let go and move on.

It isn't really about giving up on him as much as recognizing that you may just not be the best for one another. Giving up on him implies that he will change if you just hold out long enough.

Read: [Feeling trapped in a relationship? Should you stay or break free?]

So, take heart, it will be painful, but the sun will rise tomorrow. You'll find your new normal and a guy that you don't ever have to ask if you should give up on him, because he supplies you with what you need from the start.

Should I Give Up On Him? 25 Signs He Won't Change or Be a Good Fit

By TEAM LOVEPANKY

P Pin It

T Tweet

f Share

If you are asking yourself, "should I give up on him?" that is already a bad sign. But just to be sure, you should know the signs of when you should call it quits and move on.

If you frequently ask yourself, "should I give up on him?" we have some good and bad news. The good news is that you still have feelings for him that run deep. The bad news is that you still have feelings for him that run deep.

Sometimes we can be in love with people who aren't good for us. You can love someone deeply even if they aren't good for you or if they never give you what you need to feel loved and fulfilled.

When to give up on a relationship with a guy

If you're asking the question, "should I give up on him?" then you probably already know the answer. If you were happy and in love, this question wouldn't even enter your mind. You would be satisfied and content, and you would have zero desire to break up with him.

With that said, there is no set timeline for when to give up on a guy. Every relationship is different, so you ultimately have to follow your own intuition. So, if you're still wondering what the signs are that you should break it off, here is what you should consider.

Should I give up on him? 25 signs it's time to move on

Let us preface all that comes after this by saying there is no such thing as a perfect man. As hard as it is for all girls to accept, no one is perfect. But, there comes the point where you aren't just overlooking minor irritants.

If you feel you sacrifice something critical in your life or one of your needs for someone else, it might be love, but that doesn't make it right.

We all go through peaks and valleys in our relationships. If the valleys are harder to climb out of and the peaks aren't all that high, you must stop and ask yourself why you stay. Like a net equation, the good times should outweigh the bad, or it isn't worth wasting your life away.

1. You keep praying he will change

If you keep praying that things will change between the two of you, then what you are really doing is praying that he will change. There is one thing that we absolutely know is true in this world.

It is that the only person you can change is yourself. If he isn't what you want or need, or doesn't supply you with what you need to feel whole, he never will.

Read: [Selfish people – 15 ways to spot and stop them from hurting you]

2. He simply can't give you what you need

Sometimes, the hardest thing to realize is someone you love isn't what you need and never will be. If you invest in someone, it sometimes seems selfish to want more than what they provide.

The problem is that you only get one go-around in this lifetime. Don't spend it regretting not being with someone who doesn't make your life happy and fulfilled.

3. You have a voice in your head telling you something isn't right

That little voice in our head's a bitch, yep! But, you know what else she is? She is almost always honest. As much as you might hate to come to terms with what your head tells you because your heart says differently, the inner voice is always right.

It is your soul telling you that something isn't the way it should be. Read: [20 right reasons for walking away from someone you love]

4. You have to beg for love and attention

If you beg for his love and attention, then you deserve better. You should never have to beg for someone to adore and treat you with the respect you deserve. Make no mistake, if someone ignores you or pays you not an ounce of attention, that is a lack of respect.

You don't want to go through life with someone who doesn't think the world of you and you shouldn't. That would be settling.

5. You have very different goals in life

If he hits the corporate ladder running and wants to spend his life without kids and traveling, stop thinking he will change his mind once he knows what you want. If you want to stay put and have the picket fence, then maybe you just aren't the right fit.

It isn't fair of you to want him to give up on his life's goals. But it also isn't fair on you to give up on your own. So, if they just don't meld, then it isn't giving up. It is realistic and saves you from a lifetime of arguing and heartbreak.

6. You fight about the same things over and over

If you fight about the same things now as you did ten years ago, then you aren't ever going to stop fighting about them. There are just some things in relationships that can't be reconciled.

If you tried to meet him halfway and he won't budge, or you can't forgive him for something even though you tried, it is time to let go and move on. It is okay to finally say, "I just can't do this anymore." Read: [The biggest secrets of a love-hate relationship]

7. He won't talk things through with you

You can't have a relationship with someone who won't talk to you or communicate. If he thinks that talking through problems is irritating, runs from you or any conflict, or simply can't sit down and have a civil conversation about problems in your life, you aren't going to be able to have a peaceful union.

An unreasonable person will always be unreasonable. They run, and you chase them forever. Maybe don't think about it as giving up but just stop chasing. Read: [All the reasons why chasing a guy never helps]

8. You feel depressed and lonely

If you feel depressed and lonely all the time, then you have to let go and move on. There is nothing worse than feeling alone, besides feeling lonely with someone.

At a certain point, ask yourself whether you are better with or without him. What is it exactly that he does besides making you feel stuck and continually waiting for him to step up and be the person you need him to be?

9. No matter what you say or do, nothing ever gets better

No matter what you say or do, things never get solved. You know why? Because he doesn't want them to.

If you have a guy who says things like, "I just don't want to fight" but runs from you, bottoms you out by shutting you out, or continually does the very things he knows will hurt the most, then it is intentional.

It isn't that he doesn't know how you feel; he just doesn't care. Don't sit around waiting for someone who doesn't care about you.

10. There is no "I" in this team

If he wants his life to remain his life, that isn't going to change. He might have learned through his parent's relationship to keep secrets and live separate lives, but in reality, this kind of relationship makes your life hell.

If you have been together and he still keeps everything to himself, that isn't going to change.

11. He is selfish

Selfish people don't change. If you wait for him to grow up and act mature, but have been waiting for a very long time, then it isn't maturity. It is a selfish man. You can't have a relationship with someone who only has himself in mind. You won't ever exist. Read: [22 early warning signs of a really bad boyfriend]

12. You find yourself always giving up what you want for what he wants

Trust us on this one, if you make sacrifices now, you always will. The reason you give in and give up is that you learned to. That isn't going to change.

Things aren't going to get any better when you finally stand up for yourself, he isn't going to like it.

13. You are afraid of him or his reaction

If you fear him or his reaction, then it is time to leave, period. No one should make you fearful in a relationship. Whether he withholds love or physically abuses you, if you are fearful and just follow along, then the answer to your question, "should I give up on him?" is a hard YES!

14. You are afraid to be alone

At some point, if you even ask this question, then you have to ask yourself why you would not give up. Maybe you are just afraid to be alone or that someone else won't come along.

Believe us, someone will. There is always another relationship around the bend. And, if this one isn't the one, the right one will come along. Read: [Fear of being alone – How to let go of this fear and find your peace]

16. He doesn't care about your feelings

If he truly doesn't care, like you can stand in front of him crying, or you are in trouble, and he doesn't come to your rescue, leave. That is never going to change.

You can't teach someone to care about you. You can't beat him into it, and you certainly can't keep begging for it. If he doesn't care about how you feel, then you let go.

15. He is a narcissist

A narcissist only cares about one person—himself. Likely, you are nothing but a means to his end. If every time you start to walk, he comes running to you, but he can't be bothered to acknowledge that you exist when you are by his side, then you are dealing with a personality style that not many people survive. Run now while you still have your self-esteem intact.

Narcissists won't change because they aren't capable. Because they lack empathy, they couldn't even if they wanted to. Read: [Signs a narcissist is playing mind games with you]

16. You are just two very different personalities, oil and vinegar

If you are a "soft sensitive" and he is the "I don't give a shit" type, you two will face constant misunderstandings. The peace that you crave just won't be there.

Personality styles don't change as much as you might wish they would. If you have come as far as you can, and he has too, and you still can't seem to meet in a happy medium, you won't ever be happy. Read: [Do opposites attract or push each other away?]

17. His family won't vacate *especially mommy***

If his family is a major contention in your relationship, that won't change. If he goes running to his mommy every time he has a problem, or his family doesn't like you and they all talk about you, it is a nail in the coffin.

If you think that you'll win them over, you won't. He fosters it, and he isn't ever going to stop.

18. He's abusing you

Abuse in a relationship should be an immediate deal-breaker for everyone. But there are many kinds of abuse beyond physical abuse. Emotional and mental abuse are just as damaging, just in a very different way.

So, if he is laying his hands on you, beating you, putting you down, or otherwise mentally torturing you, then it's time to give up on him – he will never change.

19. You're incompatible

Incompatibility is very difficult to overcome in a relationship. For example, let's say one of you is an extrovert and the other is an introvert/homebody. The extrovert wants to go out, do fun things, and socialize with other people.

Meanwhile, the introvert never wants to leave the house and isn't into hanging out with people. These personalities are very incompatible. So, you might want to reconsider whether or not you two are a good match. Read: [Sexually incompatible? The unlucky signs that confirm bad sex]

20. He is addicted to something

Addiction should also be considered a deal-breaker. Usually, when we think of addiction, we think of alcohol or drugs.

But there are a lot of other addictions that can be harmful to a relationship. It can be an addiction to porn, video games, or gambling. Addictions take his attention away from you and the relationship.

21. He is reckless with money

Finances are one of the top reasons that couples break up. If one of you is a spender and one is a saver, that doesn't work very well together. Maybe he gambles or does things with his money that you disapprove of and doesn't consult your opinion. This can be a huge problem in relationships.

22. He cheated on you

Cheating and betrayal should also be a deal-breaker, but for many it's not. Some women give the cheater too many chances, but they will always keep cheating.

So, whether it's cheating or some other kind of betrayal, you should really think about giving up on him because he probably won't change. Read: [How to get over someone cheating on you and repair the damage]

23. He's emotionally withdrawn

When a guy is always "in his own world" and doesn't engage with you at all, then he is emotionally withdrawn. He could be physically present but just staring at the TV 24/7 or simply a workaholic. The point is, if he's not emotionally connecting with you anymore, then that is not a satisfying relationship.

24. Your relationship is not a priority to him

If you find that he puts almost everything in his life before you, then you are not a top priority in his life.

Going out with his guy friends, working, drinking, playing video games, or anything else can be more important to him than you are. If that's happening, then you should probably give up on him.

25. You aren't happy

This one seems so simple, but it's probably the most profound reason you should end it with him. If you aren't happy with him, then is there any other choice? After all, the goal in life should be happiness.

So if he is sucking the joy out of your life, why are you even with him? There is someone else out there that can bring a smile to your face, you just need to find him. Read: [Not happy in a relationship – 20 signs, why it happens, and what to do]

Deciding on giving up on him

Deciding to leave someone you love is one of the hardest decisions in the world. The definition of insanity is performing the same behavior and expecting a different result. If no matter how you approach your relationship, it simply isn't giving you

REGARDLESS OF HOW YOU APPROACH YOUR RELATIONSHIP, IF SIMPLY ISN'T GIVING YOU what you want, it is time to let go and move on.

It isn't really about giving up on him as much as recognizing that you may just not be the best for one another. Giving up on him implies that he will change if you just hold out long enough.

Read: [Feeling trapped in a relationship? Should you stay or break free?]

So, take heart, it will be painful, but the sun will rise tomorrow. You'll find your new normal and a guy that you don't ever have to ask if you should give up on hi, because he supplies you with what you need from the start.

LOVEPANKY IN YOUR INBOX

Get the very best of LovePanky straight to your inbox!

Sign Up!

Love Couch

Sweet Love
Better Love
Romantic Love
Your Ex
Broken Hearts

Flirting Flings

Get Flirty
Dating Game
Wild Secrets
Naughty Affairs

Sensual Tease

Seduction
Obsession
Fantasies
Passion Pill
Sizzle

Reads for Women

Understanding Men
Attracting Men
Dating Tips for Women
How To...
Girl Talk

Reads for Men

Understanding Women
Attracting Women
Dating Tips for Men
How To...
Guy Talk
Essentials

My Life

Relationships
Work and Play
Reflections
A Better Life

All rights reserved. Reproduction without explicit permission is prohibited.

© 2022 LovePanky.com Privacy Policy | Terms of Service | About Us | Write for Us | Contact Us

Ad Services Privacy Policy | AdChoices ▶

Back to top